

CASE STUDY

Mosaic Diagnostics' Organic Acids Test (OAT) Played a Major Role in Carol's Integrated Treatment to Quiet EMF and Restore Balance

PATIENT OPPORTUNITY

Carol presented in a psychotic state marked by neurological dysfunction and dysregulation. She reported crushing chest pain and paresthesia in her arms, face, legs, and trunk. Additional symptoms included insomnia, exhaustion, bloating, and a strong perception of being targeted and attacked by EMF or radio frequency. Testing revealed multiple imbalances involving gut health, neurotransmitter function, toxic burden, cofactor needs, and methylation pathway support.

APPROACH

We were investigating imbalances that might have triggered Carol's sudden intolerance to life and psychotic episodes, so we utilized Mosaic Diagnostic's OAT test, DNA methylation pathways, toxic and essential element analysis, salivary hormones, and the DSL GI MAP. Treatment began with herbal protocols targeting dysbiosis and yeast overgrowth, along with support for repairing leaky gut. We incorporated adaptogens and other botanicals to address hormone imbalances and provided Carol with life skills to help shift ingrained patterns contributing to her health issues.

RESULTS

Carol is responding well to treatment and is actively engaged in her healing process. She is finally sleeping and reports fewer symptoms related to EMF sensitivity, along with improved mood and reduced bloating. Carol also spent three months at an all-inclusive alternative retreat in Europe for stem cell therapy, and we continue to monitor her progress.
